

Peggy,
In one of your recent post, you mentioned using teflon grease to lub the inside of the Jabsco rubber parts. Can I use silicone grease instead of teflon grease? 😊

ShareThis

OFFLINE

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress Menu

Ken13559

View Public Profile

Find More Posts by Ken13559

08-10-2010, 09:07 am

#2 (permalink)

Peggie Hall- HeadMistress

--
Little Rock

Joined: Dec 1997
Posts: 3,750

OFFLINE

You can...but I wouldn't

📌 Top

Teflon grease is recommended for submersible pumps, which means it'll last a LOT longer in your toilet pump than silicone grease. We're only talking about $3.95 tube of grease that you can also use to lube y-valves, manual bilge pumps, seacocks and just about anything else that stays wet...and will take years to use up even if you lube everything in sight with it.

ShareThis

Peggie Hall

Specializing in marine sanitation since 1987

Author "Get Rid of Boat Odors - A Guide To Marine Sanitation Systems and Other Sources of Aggravation and Odor"

<http://shop.sailboatowners.com/books...66438&cat=1304>

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress Menu

Peggie Hall-HeadMistress

View Public Profile

Visit Peggie Hall-HeadMistress's homepage!

Find More Posts by Peggie Hall-HeadMistress

08-10-2010, 09:58 pm

#3 (permalink)

Ken13559

Hunter 326

Singapore

Joined: Oct 2005

Posts: 261

OFFLINE

Re: You can...but I wouldn't

 Top

Peggy, thanks and noted. Its not easy to find teflon grease here, but I'll try.

ShareThis

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress Menu

Ken13559

View Public Profile

Find More Posts by Ken13559

08-11-2010, 06:32 am

#4 (permalink)

Peggie Hall-HeadMistress

--

Little Rock

Joined: Dec 1997

Sources

 Top

Quote:

Originally Posted by Ken13559

Peggy, thanks and noted. Its not easy to find teflon grease here, but I'll try.

Swimming pool supply stores, bicycle shops, auto parts stores...and the internet.

I just noticed where you are...the 'net might be your best bet. Google "Super Lube"...it's the best...you only want the synthetic grease that comes in a tube. Amazon has it...so do several other sites. The 3 oz. size will last for years.

Posts: 3,750

ShareThis

Peggie Hall

Specializing in marine sanitation since 1987

Author "Get Rid of Boat Odors - A Guide To Marine Sanitation Systems and Other Sources of Aggravation and Odor"

<http://shop.sailboatowners.com/books...66438&cat=1304>

OFFLINE

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress Menu

Peggie Hall-HeadMistress

View Public Profile

Visit Peggie Hall-HeadMistress's homepage!

Find More Posts by Peggie Hall-HeadMistress

08-15-2010, 07:15 am

#5 (permalink)

Ken13559

Hunter 326

Singapore

Joined: Oct 2005

Posts: 261

Re: Teflon grease, silicone grease can?

Top

Peggy, thanks for this bit of info. Found a dealer for "Super Lube synthetic grease" in Singapore.

Ken

ShareThis

OFFLINE

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress Menu

Ken13559

View Public Profile

Find More Posts by Ken13559

08-17-2010, 03:50 pm

#6 (permalink)

mbertsche

Hake Yachts Seaward Eagle 32

Port Henry

Joined: Aug 2010

Posts: 1

OFFLINE

Top

Quote:

Originally Posted by Ken13559

Peggy, thanks and noted. Its not easy to find teflon grease here, but I'll try.

Try Ebay - That's where I found it after going through about 3 gallons of gas hitting every autoparts, hardware and Tractor Supply. AAA Industrial Supply Inc. They even sell it in a 400 gram can. I figure that ought to be pretty near a lifetime supply. Cheers - Mark

ShareThis

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress Menu

mbertsche

View Public Profile

Find More Posts by mbertsche

08-18-2010, 07:58 am

#7 (permalink)

Head Master

*Arkansas Traveler 14
Mays Landing, NJ*

Joined: Mar 2009

Posts: 61

OFFLINE

Re: Teflon grease, silicone grease can?

Top

Here's the parent company's website (Synco Chemical):

<http://www.super-lube.com/>

It includes a list of authorized distributors. You'll want the grease, not the aerosol spray. The grease is about the consistency of toothpaste, and comes in tubes or cans, depending on the size you need.

ShareThis

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress

Head Master

View Public Profile

Find More Posts by Head Master

08-21-2010, 04:25 pm

#8 (permalink)

Ken13559

*Hunter 326
Singapore*

Joined: Oct 2005
Posts: 261

OFFLINE

Re: Teflon grease, silicone grease can?

★ Top

Peggy, now that I've got the Super Lube, beside using it for the heads pump O-ring, can I use it for my sea water pump impeller ? Thought it might be good to lube that impeller so that its smoother and such ?

ShareThis

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress Menu

Ken13559

View Public Profile

Find More Posts by Ken13559

08-23-2010, 06:11 am

#9 (permalink)

Peggie Hall-HeadMistress

--
Little Rock

You might want to read my first reply again...

★ Top

" We're only talking about $3.95 tube of grease that you can also use to lube y-valves, manual bilge pumps, seacocks and just about anything else that stays wet..."

ShareThis

Peggie Hall

Joined: Dec 1997

Posts: 3,750

Specializing in marine sanitation since 1987

Author "Get Rid of Boat Odors - A Guide To Marine Sanitation Systems and Other Sources of Aggravation and Odor"

<http://shop.sailboatowners.com/books...66438&cat=1304>

OFFLINE

Reply \(w/quote\) | Print | Email Page | Subscribe | The Head Mistress Menu

Peggie Hall-HeadMistress

View Public Profile

Visit Peggie Hall-HeadMistress's homepage!

Find More Posts by Peggie Hall-HeadMistress

